

Nate's job as an accountant is to get the Ranch's accounts in order and bring in new business, so he hires his neighbor, Cyndi Dillon, as his assistant. She's efficient and capable and oh so desirable, but Nate doesn't believe in mixing business with pleasure. Her job is everything she dreamed of and more, but she's harboring a secret that could jeopardize their working relationship. The one thing Cyndi hadn't counted on was falling for the shy accountant. He's drop-dead gorgeous and looks great in Levis, but wasn't it just her luck to fall for a pretend cowboy when she'd grown up around the real thing? Someone doesn't want the boys to inherit their father's ranch and will do anything to get what they want. When problems on the spread escalate, will personal safety get in the way of their future or does love really conquer all?
